

For Immediate Release

Contact Sharon Smith for Prevail, Inc of Hamilton County
317-506-7982 or ssmith@maverickpublicrelations.com

Prevail, Inc. announces new board members

Noblesville, IN- July 5, 2011 Prevail Inc., of Hamilton County, a non-profit organization serving crime victims and families in crisis, has added six new members to its board of directors.

New members include Patty Cummins, Carmel Elementary, Teresa Goo of Key Bank, Dave Hajak of Raymond James, Kevin Jowitt, Chief of Police for the City of Noblesville, Steve Kotz of KAR Holdings/ADESA, and Darren Peck, Indiana Restoration & Cleaning Services. Each new member will serve a three-year term.

Members of the board are chosen for their passion and commitment to Prevail, which provides advocacy, awareness, education and support services to victims of crime in and around Hamilton County.

About Prevail, Inc.

Founded in 1986, Prevail is currently celebrating 25 years of service to victims of crime and families in crisis. Prevail is a dedicated and recognized model in the advocacy for crime victims by promoting community awareness through educational prevention programs and community partnerships. Programs and services are offered without discrimination against age, race, gender, creed, ethnicity, color, marital status, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, or disability and are confidential, personalized and free-of-charge. For more information on Prevail and its services, log on to www.prevailinc.com or contact Loretta Moore at (317) 773-6942 or Loretta@prevailinc.com. Prevail, Inc. offers a 24-hour crisis line: 317-776-3472.

###